KeyMacro is a digital key logger utility that secretly records all the keystrokes made with your keyboard. It will secretly record all the keystrokes (i.e. pressing and releasing the key) made with your keyboard. All the recorded information can be saved to the specified file. No other process will be affected when running KeyMacro. KEYMACRO is very useful to anyone who is concerned about his/her privacy, or about having others snooping on his/her keyboard without his/her knowledge. It will secretly record all the keystrokes made with your keyboard. All the recorded information can be saved to the specified file. No other process will be affected when running KeyMacro.KEYMACRO offers many options that let you customize the way the application performs, while also offering many features to let you manage the saved information. The features include:Keystroke history format: "Windows NT/2000/XP/2003" (The most flexible is the "Windows NT/2000/XP/2003" format, which can record all keystrokes made with the keyboard. It can also record the ones made with the keyboard and the mouse. This is the default format. For the other two formats, please refer to the "Advanced configuration" section.) File naming: You can choose the name for each file. The default name is as follows: "record.txt" or "record.txt~". The "~" means "the last one". Actions after the recording: You can choose which action should happen after the recording (the button: "Listen to the keystrokes" or "Send the recorded data to server". If you want to send the recorded data to the server, you should choose "Listen to the keystrokes". If you choose "Listen to the keystrokes", the recorded data will be displayed on the screen. For example: after recording, you can check if you have pressed a key by choosing "Listen to the keystrokes" and then pressing the key you want to check. If the key you pressed is "Control" or "Left Mouse Button" then the corresponding file will have "Listen to the keystrokes" and "Send the recorded data to server" actions. If the key you pressed is "Right Mouse Button", the corresponding file will have only "Send the recorded data to server" action. Saving to a file: You can select a file as the saved file.
